- Start with a strong action verb. Examples include "Educated," "Inspired," or "Developed."
- Quantify your accomplishments whenever possible. Use numbers to demonstrate the impact of your teaching.
- Tailor your summary to the specific job you're applying for. Highlight the skills and experience that are most relevant to the position.

Example Career Summary:

“ Highly motivated and experienced teacher with 5+ years of success in teaching English and Literature to high school students. Proven ability to engage students, create a positive learning environment, and develop individualized lesson plans that meet the needs of all learners.”

2. Highlighting Your Teaching Experience

Your teaching experience is the most important section of your resume. Here, you will list your previous teaching positions, along with your responsibilities and accomplishments. Here are some tips for highlighting your teaching experience:

- Use action verbs to describe your responsibilities. Examples include "Developed," "Implemented," or "Facilitated."
- Quantify your accomplishments whenever possible. Use numbers to demonstrate the impact of your teaching.

- Provide specific examples of your teaching methods and strategies. This will help potential employers see how you approach teaching.

Example Teaching Experience:

“English Teacher, ABC High School, 2018-Present”

- Developed and implemented engaging lesson plans that aligned with state standards and curriculum guidelines.
- Taught a wide range of English courses, including English Literature, Composition, and Creative Writing.
- Utilized differentiated instruction to meet the needs of all learners, including students with learning disabilities and English language learners.

3. Showcase Your Skills and Competencies

In addition to your teaching experience, you should also highlight your skills and competencies. These can include both hard skills, such as proficiency in certain software programs, and soft skills, such as communication and interpersonal skills. Here are some tips for showcasing your skills and competencies:

- List your skills in a separate section of your resume.
- Use keywords that potential employers will be looking for.

- Provide specific examples of how you have used your skills in your teaching career.

Example Skills and Competencies:

- Curriculum Development
- Instructional Design
- Assessment and Evaluation
- Differentiated Instruction
- Student Engagement
- Classroom Management

4. Tailor Your Resume to the Job You're Applying For

It's important to tailor your resume to each job you apply for. This means highlighting the skills and experience that are most relevant to the position. Here are some tips for tailoring your resume:

- Read the job description carefully and identify the key requirements.
- Highlight the skills and experience that match the job requirements.
- Use keywords from the job description in your resume.

5. Get Feedback on Your Resume

Once you have crafted your resume, it's important to get feedback from others. This could include a friend, family member, or career counselor. Getting feedback will help you identify any areas that need improvement.
