What is Candlestick Trading?

Candlestick trading is a form of technical analysis that uses candlestick charts to visually represent price action. Candlesticks are composed of a body and one or two wicks (also known as shadows). The body represents the range between the opening and closing prices, while the wicks indicate the highest and lowest prices reached during the period represented by the candlestick.

Candlesticks provide a wealth of information about market sentiment and momentum. The color of the body indicates whether the closing price was higher (bullish) or lower (bearish) than the opening price. The length and position of the wicks can provide insights into market volatility and potential reversals.
